MERIDEN, Conn., Oct. 8.-A cable dis patch from Berlin a few days ago announced the discovery of six human skeletons in the cellar of a tavern in a town called Turzig, near Runmelsburg, in Germany. One of the bodies was identified as that of B. Fuerstenberg, Jr., a prominent merchant of that locality, who was never seen by his friends after he had entered that tavern. His identity was discovthat tavern. His identity was discovered by his clothing and valise. The authorities are looking for the former own or of the tavern—Carl Seifert. He has been found in this city, and is recognized by several of the Germans here who came from Turzig, as the keeper of the tavern in question. He displayed considerable money after he came here last April, and bought several building lots. The German Consul was notified of the whereabouts of Seifert, but he replied last night that he was not aware that Seifert was wanted in Germany, so he had not been arrested. Chief-of-Police Ford went to New York to-day to consult with the Consul. The theory is that these skeletons are the bodies of travelers who were murdered and robbed.

HOUGHTON, Mich., Oct. 8 .- The fire in the Calumet & Hecla mine, which threatened such serious results, is still burning, but the officers of the mine have now strong hopes that the fire is under control. Fans have been arranged by which the smoke is drawn from a portion of the mine without creating a draught near the fire, and parties of men are able to cater. It is expected that work will be partially resumed in a short time. The fire appears to be burning itself out. Runners as to persons missing are not confirmed, and it is hoped there will be no more victims. The accumulation of gas in the mine makes descent very dangerous. Men have descended as far as the cleventh level, but descended as, far as the clewenth lovel, but can remain but a short time. They find no indications that the fire is making further headway, and feel assured that it is confined wholly to the eighth level, near the south end of the mine. Nothing has been learned as to the cause of the fire.

Massachusetta Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.
Messes, J. C. AYER & Co., Gentlemen:
Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially ny limbs, which itshed so intolerably at night, and burned so intensoly, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S ARBAPABILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short, time the fever and Itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred percent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the Sarrararilla, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

"The most novel and important dramatic event of last week was the successful appearance of Mr. John T. Raymond in a new character. In a critical period, in a period when acting tends so strongly toward overrefinements of methods, Mr. Raymond is an especially welcome and refreshing presence upon the stage, for the reason that he creates his effects by genuine, spontaneous humor rather than intricate and complex mechanism. His great animal spirit his buoyant vitality, his grotesque locomotion, his facial composure, his flexible, cheering, unctuous voice, his keen sense of of eccentric character and the unerring precision with which he can assume it, the symmetrical absurdity of his rayment, and the in-cessant energy and sparkle of his droll demeanor, combine to make him delightfully humorous; while of course his ample experience has given Ben Howenstine is happy over the arrival of a beautiful boy baby at his home.

A LETTER FROM TILDEN.

The Sage of Gramercy Replies to the Resolutions of the Democratic National Committee.

Joint Discussion by Indiana Gubernatorial Candidates—Missouri Republicans -Governor Cleveland.

MR. TILDEN DISCUSSES POLITICS

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The following is Mr Tilden's response to the committee of the National Democratic Convention conveying to him the resolutions of that body:

to him the resolutions of that body:
GREYSTONE, Oct. 5, 1831—Mr Chairman and Gentlemon of the Committee I thank you for the kind terms in which you have communieasted the resolutions concerning me adopted by the late Democratic National Convention i share your conviction that retorm in the Administration of the Federal Government, which is our great National want, and is in deed essential to the rectorulion and preservation of the Government itself, can only be achieved through the aroney of the Demoeratic party and by installing its representative in the Chief Magistracy of the United

the in the Chief Magistracy of the Union States.

The noble historical traditions of the Demo c atle party, the principles in which it was chosened and to which it has ever been in the main faithful, its freedom from the corrupt industries which grow up in prolonged possession of power, and the nature of the elements which constitute it, all contribute to qualify it for that mission. The opposite characteristics and conditions which states to the Republican party make it hopeles to expect that that party will be able to give better government than the decasing system of abuses which, during its ascendancy, has intected official and political left in this country for government than the decasing system of abuses which, during its ascendancy, has insected official and political life in this country. The Democratic party had its origin in the croistical management of the croistic to the more advanced patrios of the recolution to resist the perversion of our Covernment from the kleat contemplated by it e people. Among its conspicuous founders were lienjamin Franklin and Thomas Jeffer & 11 amough Adams and John Hanceck, of Massachusetts, George Clinton and Robert II. Itvingstone, of New York, and George Wythe and Jahnes Madison, or Virginia From the eaction of Mr Jefferson as President in 1801 for sixty years the Democratic party mainly invected our National polacy It extended the boundaries of the Republic and laid the foundarious of all our National greatness, while it preserved the limitations imposed by the constitution and maintained a sample and pure system of domestic administration. On the o her hand the Republican party has always been dominated by practile as which stream of the people it has become deep it tainted with the abuses which naturally from the specially in the period of civil war and tales binance. The particular and virtuous elements in the now unable to tumorepate in the support of the best citizens it contains despair of its amendment except through its temporary a pulsion from power. It has been be estably asserted by a modern Massachusetts statesman struggling to reconcile hims of and his followers to their Presidential cundidates, that the Ropublican purty contains a desproportionate share of the wealth the culture and the intelligence of the constitute of the tone of the period of civil war and tales that the share of the president of the period of constitute and the part of the intelligence of the constitute and the share of the sealing and count to by the defenders of old wroners against the very large of the American revonition against Jackson. It is alleged by the Conset of the constitute activities and count of the part of the most income o

The Ropublican party is largely made up of these who live by their wits, and who sapire in politics to advantages over the rest of mankind, similar to those which their daily lives are do noted to so, uring in private business. In Democratic party consists largely of these who live by the work of their hands and whose political action is go grand by thour sontments or imagination. It results that the Democratic party, one readily than the Republican party, one to modeled to the suppost of rotour measures what involve a surplet of rotour measures what involve a sarritce of solish interests. The independence necessity of our times is a change of Administration in the great executive of loss of the constry. This, in my undement, can only he accomplished by the election of the Remounte candidates for Pepsident and Vice-1 resident.
